Peter,

While talking with Lani about our banking and whether they would issue credit/debit cards to department members for special projects, she asked that I email you about this conversation to discuss it at the next board meeting.

Recently, our EMS supplies have been suffering due to our current ordering process: writing the needed supplies on the whiteboard and hoping they get noticed and ordered. Another issue identified is over-ordering, which leads to expired equipment and medications.

After some research, I have identified a company that stocks all our EMS needs, provides overnight delivery, and delivers small quantities. This company was recommended by Bi-County Ambulance and is the one they currently use.

While still researching how this project would work, a project manager would need the ability to order without delay, a department card.

I will not be able to attend this month's meeting. If any questions come up about this, please feel free to contact me,
